

Internal Auditor

The audit function is the personal eyes and ears of Senior Management and the Audit Committee on behalf of the Board of Directors. This includes developing relationships with clients while maintaining independence and utilizing communication, negotiation, and persuasion skills to help management recognize the exposures and gaps in controls as the results of audits and other projects. You will audit the design, efficiency, and effectiveness of internal controls used to provide reasonable assurance that the company's goals are achieved.

This is a career you should consider if you:

- Have a Bachelor's degree or equivalent.
- Currently hold a CIA, CISA, or CPA certification or are willing to obtain.
- Thrive on problem solving, fine details, and data analysis in a team environment.
